Central Board Approves Six Journalists For Kaimin Editorial, Business Positions

GENELL JACKSON

Genell Jackson will step into the job of news editor vacated by Ron Erickson. During high school, she was editor of the "Fergus"—the student newspaper. She worked on daily newspapers in Lewistown and Glendive.

John Bansch, Helena, and Lee DeVore, Spokane, will take over the Montana Kaimin's editor and business manager positions spring quarter when the new year of publication begins.

Central board approved the two, recommended by Publications board, and Saturday approved a staff of four associates. They are Genell Jackson, Lewistown; Jane Walsh, Olympia, Wash.; Jim Berry, Miles City; and Gary Sorensen, Missoula. All six are journalism majors.

Bansch, a junior, served as an associate editor and sports writer since November. He worked on

GARY SORENSEN

Gary Sorensen will be out looking for the bright side of the news with two quarters of reporting on the Kaimin behind him and previous experience as sports editor on the Missoula high school "Konah." He'll be feature editor, taking Joan Hoff's place.

Sorensen is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, Sigma Nu and is a junior. He is going to put emphasis on pictures saying, "we'll see the campus through a camera."

Business Manager Lee DeVore came to the University last fall from Washington State college. She became chairman of the games committee of Activities board, a finalist in the Phi Sig Moonlight Girl contest, and will take over the reins from Virginia McBride, Butte, Jane Walsh, society editor, is a sophomore journalism major and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta and Alpha Lambda Delta honorary.

She is a member of Aqua Maids, Canterbury club, Inter Church council, and Spurs.

Jane gained journalistic experience by working on the high school newspaper, the "Olympus."

JIM BERRY

Jim Berry is a sophomore with experience as sports reporter on the "Miles City Daily Star" and the "Signal Butte," Miles City high school paper. He is a member of Sigma Nu.

Jim favors continuing national sports from the United Press wire in the Kaimin and says he'll continue to emphasize the intramural program.

AWS Will Elect Officers Today

Eight women are on the ballot for Associated Women students offices today. These women received the most votes in the primary election last Thursday. Voting is from 9 to 5 in the Lodge.

Joan Hoff, Butte, a journalism major, and Carla Ingebo, Missoula, a math major, are running for president. Both are juniors and are on the present AWS Executive council. Miss Hoff is AWS vice-president and Miss Ingebo is a delegate.

On the ballot for vice-president are Pat Gessner, Cascade, and Mikell Peck, Baker. Miss Gessner is a junior majoring in home economics, and Miss Peck is a sophomore history major.

Carol Peterson, Lewistown, and Marcia Smith, Missoula, are running for secretary. Miss Peterson is a junior in the music school and Miss Smith is a sophomore.

Candidates for treasurer are Liz Astle, Billings, and Nancy Perry, Butte.

Laurie Niemi Appointed To Football Coaching Staff

Laurie Niemi of the Vancouver Lions who spent part of his boyhood in Montana, has accepted the coaching vacancy left by Fred Naumetz's resignation earlier this month, according to Jerry Williams, head football coach.

Niemi, who begins his coaching duties March 1, was born in Red Lodge. He later attended Butte high school before moving to Clarkston, Wash., where he completed his high school education.

The new coach and Williams were co-captains of the 1948 Washington State football team. While at WSC Niemi was accorded INS All-American honors and was selected on the All-Pacific Coast conference team in 1948. Williams and Niemi were teammates on the West team in the East-West game at San Francisco and on the College All-Star team.

"I consider myself very fortunate in obtaining Niemi for our staff," Williams said. "He was one of the finest players in pro ball."

BULLETIN

Ike to Run

WASHINGTON — (UP) — President Eisenhower said today he would be willing to run for re-election.

The Chief Executive told a record-breaking news conference, however, that there were a number of factors bearing on his decision which he would explain tonight to the American people in a radio and television appearance.

The President, ending a long period of political tension following his heart attack, told reporters:

"My answer will be positive, that is affirmative."

Mr. Eisenhower said he was not certain that the Republican convention at San Francisco in August would want to nominate him after he outlines tonight the various factors involved in his willingness to run again.

WUS CHAIRMEN CHOSEN

Committee chairmen for the World University Service drive April 9-14 were announced Tuesday by John Fowler, Missoula, WUS chairman.

They are Chub Brown and Carol Crippen, Billings, advertising; Bill Cogswell, Missoula, ugly man contest; Stan Nicholson, Missoula, Chinese auction; Ellen Strommen, Anaconda, movies; Audrey Wacker, Billings, and Kay Lefevre, Kalispell, car wash; and Byron Christian, Kalispell, dance.

Boston Pops Concert Set

Playing everything from light opera to popular music, the Boston Pops Tour Orchestra under the direction of Arthur Fiedler presents an array of music numbers at the University theater tonight at 8:15.

The Pops will open the program with "Polonaise" from the opera "Eugene Onegin," by Tchaikovsky. Next is the popular overture to "The Barber of Seville," by Rossini. Featured on the program before the first intermission are "Fantasia on Greensleeves," by Vaughan Williams and "Gaité Parisienne," by Offenbach.

Rachmaninoff's "Rhapsody on a Theme of Paganini," and "Capriccio Espagnol," by Rimsky-Korsakoff are numbers featured after the first intermission. The last part of the program will be popular music including "Mr. Sandman," "Melody of Love," "The Naughty Lady of Shady Lane," and "Three Coins in the Fountain."

To end the concert, the Boston Pops closes with "Look Sharp—Be Sharp." Harry John Brown is the assistant conductor and Ruth Slenzynska is the piano soloist.

Band in Boston . . .

The Boston Pops Tour Orchestra, the third attraction in the Community Concert series, will play tonight at 8:15 at the University theater. Since 1952-53 season, by special arrangement with the Boston Symphony Orchestra, the Pops has been carrying its music to cities in the East. This year, for the first time, Arthur Fiedler will lead his Bostonians across the continent and back.

Let Go of Our Jugular

One week ago Friday the University of Denver boosted tuition from $11 to $14 per credit hour, effective in September, 1956. Most of the nation's schools are considering similar action to offset rising costs from booming enrollment. MSU is no exception.

Our country cousins in Bozeman, however, have made no mention of the problem as it applies to MSC, other than a blanket profession of love for out-of-staters.

This negative mouthing reminds us a little of Montana's politicians who are dedicated to nothing better than belittling the governor.

Here's what President R. R. Renne said in the latest issue of the Exponent:

"More Montana college and university students are educated in higher educational institutions outside the state than the number of students from other states that are educated in Montana higher educational institutions."

The Kaimin said the same thing last January. Renne continued:

"The non-resident undergraduates have a considerably better grade average than Montana resident students. For the fall quarter of 1955, non-resident undergraduates at Montana State college averaged 79.39 in scholarship compared with an average of 77.74 for all undergraduates ...

"The wide distribution of such students from 34 states and 19 nations and possessions, with a great variety of backgrounds and experiences tends to strengthen the entire student body and make it more representative, democratic, and typically American than would be possible without such non-resident students."

Isn't that a little elementary? We love our out-of-state students too. But we can't take everybody. And we get warm under the collar when the Exponent points its finger at MSU and President McFarland and says, "some persons feel that Montana schools should be exclusively for Montana residents."

We haven't said that at all. We said our first obligation is to Montanans, even if it means raising standards for in-state and out-of-state students alike. Whether Bozeman likes it or not, it too, may be forced to cut down its ratio of out-of-staters.

The Kaimin believes that Montana will ultimately be forced to build more schools, perhaps trade schools, and enlarge the existing units and junior colleges. That can't be done without concerted cooperation from the entire state. We are no longer in competition for numbers. We must let go of each other's jugular veins and go to work on the real problem.

LSA, Organized In '22, Sponsors Study Activities

Editor's note: This is the first in a series of stories explaining beliefs and activities of religious organizations on the campus.

The Lutheran Student association of America which is represented on the campus was organized by a group of Lutheran students in 1922, as a completely separate organization from the Lutheran church itself. It elects and appoints its own leaders, determines its program and policies, and handles its own budget.

As Lutherans, LSA members believe and confess that the Holy Scriptures, which are the canonical books of the Old and New Testaments, are the work of God revealed for the salvation of man and are, therefore, the only source and rules of faith, doctrine, and life.

The LSA is divided into 14 regions of which Montana is one. The Montana regional president is Bob Roloff of Montana State college. Norman Nelson, Anaconda, is serving as president of the MSU chapter this year. The MSU program includes regular Sunday suppers at the Lodge for the purpose of worship, teaching, and fellowship and features guest speakers and discussions. The group also carries on an active evangelism program and has a stewardship program to cover local expenses and assist in meeting the national budget.

Jan Holling, Lutheran counselor to MSU students, said that there is no fixed membership in LSA and that any student who wishes to take part in the program may do so whether his motive is study or fellowship.

Dulles Backs Up Recent Remarks

By UNITED PRESS

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles fought back yesterday at critics of his recent remarks on Russia's switch in world policy.

The Secretary of State has been criticized by Democrats because of his review of the world situation last week before the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

Dulles said then that the Russians have made radical changes in global thinking because their old policies failed to keep pace with free world action. He said the new Russian emphasis on economic aid is a sign that their old policies of violence and subversion have failed. Leading Democrats have charged Dulles with being too optimistic.

Dulles says his picture of the world situation is not optimistic. The Reds, Dulles said, by all present indications intend to follow a policy of non-violence. He agreed, however, that complacency would be dangerous and said the Reds might go back to their old ways overnight.

Foreign Language Conference Set

Teachers from two Canadian provinces and eight northwestern states will meet at MSU for the first time March 22 to 24 for the Northwest Conference of Foreign Language Teaching. Dr. Robert M. Burgess, head of the department of foreign languages, is chairman.

The conference is made up of teachers from British Columbia, Alberta, Washington, Oregon, northern California, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, and North and South Dakota. Language teachers on all school levels are invited to attend the conference. The program will be of interest to teachers of both classical and modern languages, according to Ward H. Powell, assistant professor of foreign languages.

Hoop Tournament For I-M Crown Begins Monday

The intramural basketball tournament will begin Monday with at least 12 teams still in the running for the eight places in the play-offs, intramural director Eddie Chinske said today.

Chinske said that a meeting of tournament-team managers today will determine what type of tournament will be held. The group had originally voted for a double-elimination tournament, but may decide to modify its plans.

Among those teams still in the running for tournament positions are: A league, Jumbolaya, Butte Rats, and Sigma Nu. B league, West Jumbolaya, D.O.A., and Sigma Phi Epsilon. C league, Outlaws, Phantoms, and South Jumbolaya. D league, Lancers, Gulchers, Bandits, and Happy Hoopsters.

Butte Rats and Sigma Nu will have a play-off this week end, along with a Phantoms-South Jumbolaya game to determine tournament spots. As soon as the schedule is completed in the B and D leagues, play-offs will be staged.

Monday night's scores saw Phi Delta Theta top the Fort Falcons 40-39, D.O.A. stopped the Oddballs 32-22, Highlander 9 beat South Hall 37-36, and Bandits ran over the Blue Wave, 69-34.

The league standings:

Montana's Razzle-Dazzle Star

Rudolph "Zip" Rhoades, Montana guard, has finally come into his own this season after a slow start. Rhoades hit his old stride against Colorado A&M in Ft. Collins, and the former Kalispell star has been hitting the basket with regularity ever since. Rhoades is a junior, and he will be around to help Frosty Cox and the Grizzlies again next year.

M Club Will Make Fight Preparations

Detailed preparations for the March 9 M Club fights will be made tonight at the M Club meeting. The meeting will be in the Lodge at 9.

Except for final arrangements, all plans for the 30th annual fights will be completed tonight, according to Al Bradshaw, fight manager. Fighters will be paired the first of next week, Bradshaw said.

A special tag team wrestling match is planned for the intermission. M Club members will compose the tag teams.

Darrel Royal Replaces Cherberg As Football Coach at Washington

Football Coach Darrell Royal has resigned at Mississippi State to take over the University of Washington.

Assistant Coach Wade Walker becomes head coach at Mississippi State. Walker is a former All-American tackle at Oklahoma. Royal was an Oklahoma quarterback. Both Royal and Walker are 31 years old.

Royal had been head coach at Mississippi State for two years. Before that, he was assistant coach at Tulsa, then head coach of Edmonton in the Canadian pro league. Royal is a master of the Split-T. At Washington, he replaces Johnny Cherberg, who was fired last month after a player rebellion.

The National AAU has released a 40-page report giving all details behind the lifetime ban against Marine Lt. Wes Santee, America's fastest miller. The report shows that in addition to excessive expense payments to Santee himself, his wife also got more than $1100 to attend seven meets last year.

In boxing, light-heavyweight champ Archie Moore has an interesting explanation for his speed in flattening Bob Dunlap in 1:56 of the first round in San Diego. Moore says he wanted to prove he isn't getting old.

Elsewhere in the fistic circuit, the New York Athletic Commission has handed out record penalties against the promoters of the Monday night television bouts.

After two previous delays, the commission today revoked the licenses of Tex Sullivan and Willie Gilzenberg and their London Sporting club. The commission also fined Gilzenberg and the club $5,000 each. It's the strongest action taken against any New York fight promoter in modern history.

Foresters Seek Backboard Culprit Of Woodticks Ball

At the Foresters' Ball Saturday someone was shooting live ammunition, and, according to T. G. Swearingen, Maintenance engineer, a bullet hole was found in one of the glass basketball backboards.

No clues to the identity of the individual or individuals who did the shooting in the Field House have been discovered, but the Forestry club is working on it. Although no other bullet holes have been found yet, there may be more in the Field House ceiling, said Swearingen.

It is reported that the police relieved one person of a gun and belt half full of live ammo. Whether the other half of the empty belt was fired at the dance is also unknown.

The backboard will be replaced and there will be a Foresters' Ball next year, according to Douglas Gilbert, Forestry club sponsor.

Certificates Given To 27 Graduates

Twenty-six men and one woman will receive certificates of completion today at the closing session of the 11th annual School of Public Administration which has been in progress on the campus during February.

The school, co-sponsored by the northern region of the U. S. Forest Service and the School of Forestry, is designed to provide practical training in the fields of human relations and administration to managers and administrators of natural resources.

Twenty-five Professors Will Give High School Commencement Talks

Every year the University makes faculty members at MSU available for speaking at commencement exercises at high schools throughout the state. This year, according to Ross L. Miller, acting director of the Public Service division, 25 professors are ready to speak at Montana high schools.

The program is sponsored by the Public Service division and gives the schools a chance to hear men and women who are experts in their particular fields.

The list of speakers is compiled from professors who volunteer to make themselves available to the high schools. The complete list is then sent to every high school in the state.

In most cases, the seniors and faculty of the high school get together and decide whom they would like to have speak. They can then send their request to the University, and if the professor is not booked for that date, arrangements are made for him to speak.

Although graduation exercises for high schools do not start until around May 21, six of the professors on the list are booked solid for several speeches each.

Dr. Linus J. Carleton, dean of the School of Education, has been scheduled to speak at Corvallis, May 21; Whitehall, May 22; Stanford, May 23; Fairfield, May 24; Judith Gap, May 25.

Edward B. Dugan, journalism professor, is signed to speak at four schools, Charlo, May 21; Beaverhead county, May 23; Thompson Falls, May 28; and Dixon, June 4.

Ralph Y. McGinnis, associate professor of speech, has been scheduled to speak at Roy, May 22; Rapelje, May 23; Lodge Grass, May 24; and Cut Bank, May 31.

Grass Range high school has asked to hear Dr. Vedder M. Gilbert, associate professor of English on May 16. Henry W. Knapp, associate professor of Education, will speak to seniors at Alberton on May 24, and Dr. John F. Staehle, associate professor of Education, will talk at Highwood on May 16.

Robert Sullivan, dean of the law school, has been asked to speak at Hot Springs on May 24.

Andrew C. Cogswell, acting dean of students, is scheduled to speak at Drummond high school May 24.

Other faculty members who have volunteered to speak are Tracey G. Call, associate professor of pharmacognosy; Dr. Milton Colvin, assistant professor of sociology and anthropology; Dr. Roy J. Ely, professor of economics; Dr. Evelyn Seedorf, assistant professor of speech; Dorothy M. Johnson, assistant professor of journalism.

Dr. Theodore H. Smith, dean of the School of business administration; Arnold W. Bolle, associate professor of forestry; Lt. Col. Samuel Hays, professor of military science and tactics; Dr. Albert Helbing, professor of business administration; Charles Hertler, chairman of the department of Health and Physical Education; Robert C. Line, professor of business administration; Tommie Lu Middleton, assistant director of student activities; Dr. Jack E. Orr, dean of the School of Pharmacy; Dr. Luther Richman, dean of the College of Fine Arts; and Frank Watson, assistant professor of education.

Pengelly to Attend Wildlife Conference

W. Leslie Pengelly, head of the Conservation Education Extension, will attend the 21st annual North American Wildlife conference and related meetings in New Orleans, La., March 5, 6, and 7.

Approximately 1500 conservationists are expected to attend the meeting from the United States, Canada, Mexico, and Alaska. According to Pengelly, the conference is the top conservation meeting of the year.

The meeting is sponsored by the Wildlife Management Institute. On Wednesday morning, March 7, Pengelly will give a paper on "Montana's Venture in Wildlife Extension."

PICTURES TO BE TAKEN TONIGHT FOR SENTINEL

Sentinel organization pictures scheduled for tonight in the Film and TV center are: 6:30, Phi Chi Theta; 6:45, Roger Williams Fellowship; 7:00, Planning committee and Westminster foundation; 7:05, Home Arts club; 7:15, Publications board; 7:20, Traditions board; 7:30, Student Christian association; 7:45, Ski club; 8:15, Women's "M" club; 8:25, Leadership Camp committee; 8:30, Athletic board; 8:35, "M" Book committee; 8:40, Student Union committee; and 8:45, Silent Sentinel.

Lodge Lost and Found Does Lucrative Business

The Lost and found in the Lodge is doing a good business but apparently some students are wandering around campus half blind.

Personnel at the Lodge desk say students' notebooks, text books, and keys are piling up and that they've got at least three pairs of glasses.

They have invited students to come over and check (if they can find their way.)

University Movies Cease Temporarily

The regular Friday night showing of movies in the University theater has been discontinued for the remainder of the quarter, according to Audra Browman, ASMSU movie committee chairman.

She told Activities board members the movie committee had expended its fund for purchasing new films, but she said some top movies are being scheduled to be shown during spring quarter. A few of the titles she mentioned were, "Red Shoes," "Hamlet," and "All's Quiet on the Western Front."

Tom Kistle, Philipsburg, replaces Bill Williamson, Box Elder, as dance committee chairman.

Seattle Police Step Up Drive On Snatchers

By UNITED PRESS

The Seattle police department is stepping up its war on purse snatchers that have been terrorizing women in two Seattle residential districts.

Police chief James Lawrence has ordered 24 provisional policemen taken out of a police academy class and assigned to help stop the wave of robberies.

Last night a young woman was slapped to the ground and robbed of her purse only 15 feet from the backyard gate of her home.

Miss Jean Pilo told officers, "If I'd had a gun I would have shot him, you can be sure of that."
